#NACCT2025

Call for Proposals: ACMT Practice Symposium

Deadline: January 6, 2025

ACMT is now accepting proposals for the Practice Symposium at 2025 North American Congress of Clinical Toxicology (NACCT). This 60-minute session focuses on topics related to clinical practice development, career advancement, and expanding the scope of medical toxicology. The typical format includes didactic presentations, though panel discussions may be considered if appropriate for the topic.

Previous Practice Symposium topics have included:

- God and Man at the Bar: Addiction, Sobriety and Spirituality (2018)
- The Role of Personalized Medicine in Medical Toxicology Practice (2019)
- Developing an ECMO Protocol Policy (2020)
- Updates in Drug Impaired Driving (2021)
- Harm Reduction in Toxicology Practice (2022)
- A Toxicologist, a Neurologist, and a Psychiatrist Walk Into the ICU... (2023)
- Non-Fatal Overdose Biosurveillance: Building a New Overdose Surveillance Infrastructure (2024)

How to Apply

Proposals should include the following:

- Title: Reflecting the overall theme and vision for the symposium.
- Objectives: 1-3 learning objectives that succinctly highlight what educational benefits attendees will gain.
- Lecture Description: 3-5 sentence description of the lecture, explaining why the topic is compelling and valuable to attendees.
- Speaker(s): You may propose a potential speaker or panelists, but please do not make any commitments prior to submitting your proposal. Final selection of speakers and modifications to the session are at the discretion of the ACMT Education Committee.

While some adjustments may be necessary, the Education Committee reserves the right to reconsider a session if there are significant changes, such as speaker substitutions or shifts in the session's intended focus.

Review Process

All submissions will be peer-reviewed by the ACMT Education Committee and leadership. Selected proposals will be forwarded to NACCT for final approval, with decisions anticipated by February 2025.

Travel Support

ACMT members are responsible for covering their own expenses to attend NACCT, including travel, hotel, and registration fees.
